November 2009 - Issue 59

Out with the spooks but back with a bang

Hello and welcome to this, our 59th issue of the informer.

I'm glad to say that it appears that all of the witches and war-locks have returned to whence they came and we now look forward to the smell of smoking bonfires - yes, a sure sign of winter.

I have been introducing 'The Informer' for some time now and I am always encouraged by the feedback that we get from you, our loyal customers. You have helped us to fine tune our services to you by responding to questionnaires through this medium and I am pleased to say that some of the improvements that we have made to our service management software and on line ordering systems have come about because you have brought this to our attention. This is very important to us here at C&G Business Equipment because we can only improve if we work with you and share your thoughts. I hope you take the time out to read through this issue, take a look at some of the offers and news that we bring and of course, enter our competition and win a bottle of bubbly - it's as easy as that.

All the best

Aaron

Improve printing security and cost control

We at C&G Business Equipment Ltd are offering you the chance to enhance the capabilities of your Canon iR device with the Security & Cost Control Pack.

With this pack the details of every print, copy and scan job are recorded, enabling managers to track the usage of each device.

You can track paper sizes, colour or mono printing and record scanning and sending activities. In addition, you can use this valuable information to save money, for example, by restricting users who always print in colour.

And, with secure printing you can ensure that confidential means confidential. And since prints are retrieved only when they're needed, there are no forgotten documents and therefore less paper wastage.

Thanks to My-Print-Anywhere, documents can be picked up at any device on the network where the application is stored. Users simply identify themselves at the most convenient MFP and the relevant documents are instantly printed.

A number of ways exist for users to authenticate themselves at the Canon MFP. For example, PIN numbers, usernames and passwords, or even HID contactless technology cards.

As your business grows and your number of devices increases or you simply just need more control, you can upgrade to uniFLOW Output Manager to continue managing your print process.

Canon achieves place in The Times' 'Where Women Want to Work Top 50'

Canon, world-leader in imaging solutions, has been recognised for the third successive year for its equal opportunity and diversity policies by achieving a place in The Times' Where Women Want to Work Top 50.

The 2009 study, undertaken by Aurora for The Times, invites organisations with more than 1,000 employees in the UK to submit detailed information on three key areas: how they effectively recruit top female talent, how they retain and develop female employees, and some examples of successful female role models.

"We are delighted to achieve a place in The Times' Where Women Want to Work Top 50 for the third consecutive year," said Caroline Price, HR Director, Canon Europe and Canon UK and Ireland. "We have worked hard as an organisation to communicate our vision to our employees through our diversity policies, ensuring that all employees have a sense of ownership and responsibility for diversity. Canon has also focused on developing its Employer

Branding strategy external to the organisation, at a local and national level, through partnerships with charities and schools.

"Equal opportunities and diversity are part of the Canon way of working, which is captured very strongly within Canon's Kyosei philosophy and we firmly believe that it's not just something you say, it's something you do," continued Price.

Jason steps in for Hayley

● Jason collects Hayley's bubbly

All that Hayley had to do was enter our competition and correctly guess that the young stars were Nicole Kidman and Meg Ryan, all that Jason had to do was collect her Champagne for her!

We hope they share it as it seems like it was a dual effort over all.

Both work for Dajon Interiors in Gloucester and can be contacted on:

When they were kids

The mystery guests that featured in last month's newsletter were:

Frank Lampard and Fernando Torres

The lucky winner is:

Kerris Merkitt

LEONI TEMCO Limited

Congratulations Kerris, your Champagne will be with you soon.

Well we think you're too good at pop, and we know that you know rock and you have just proved that you know football - so back to a couple of cute film stars - and they're still cute now (or so we are informed)

This couple, though not a 'couple' are stars in their own right from either side of the pond. The young lady was once seen in Fat Sam's speak easy while the dashing young man on the right eventually starred in a classic 'Caine' remake!

Please email your answers to info@cgcopiers.co.uk and put 'November quiz' in the subject box.

Good luck!

And finally - last month saw...

Former British rugby player, Jonny Williams, die aged 77

Jenson Button clinch the F1 World Championship for the first time

BNP leader Nick Griffin make history by appearing on BBC's Question Time

Test Cricket Umpire and former Gloucestershire cricketer, David Shepherd, pass away aged 68
